

Lloyd on February 26, 2010 10 comments

For Good or Evil?

So, I have this brand new shiny iPad that I just put together. I also have a new teacher at school who is a bigger Apple Fanboy than I am. But I don't know just how to best put it to use. Any ideas?

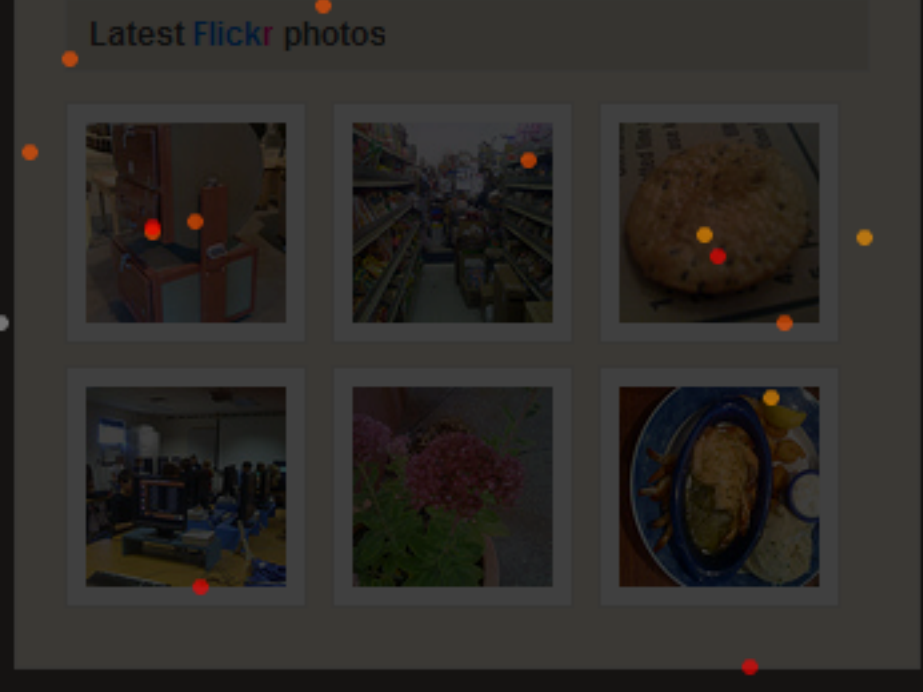

ShareThis apple, ipad, prank, card tag

- Comments Most Popular Tags Us
- ★ Lauren: Think of it as a giant iPhone, minus the phone and camera. (It's like a ...)
- ★ Kristi: I still don't get it. What will the new thing DO?...
- ★ Lauren: I like to think of the paper iPad as a teddy-bear for geeks. It gives them ...
- ★ Lloyd: Do you mean the thing in the picture or the thing that the thing in the pic...
- ★ Lauren's mom: Okay, I'm an idiot... Why don't you just buy some post-it-notes? What does...

Random Brad Fact
Students dream of misbehaving in Brad Royuk's classroom so they can have detention with Brad Royuk. But no one misbehaves in Brad Royuk's classroom.

- Friends DeLicious Twitter
- deanne's site karla's site
- kitt's site hwe's site
- mark's site schmidly.com
- tina's site web's site

Where are you?
Widget seen a dead. Map here.

10 Responses to "For Good or Evil?"

- Brad Says: February 27, 2010 at 6:40 am
At the link, it says you should use it at Starbucks. But do they have paper wifi?
- Brad Says: February 27, 2010 at 6:44 am
What's that contraption in the upper left hand corner of your Flickr photos? I will guess that it's a chicken jumbler: you put chickens in the doors, then roll the drum around. Voiall Jumbled chickens!
- Lauren Says: February 27, 2010 at 8:10 am
Ha! You funny.
You're not far off. I wasn't at the auction, but apparently it's an incubator. Chicken eggs need to be turned daily so the baby chick doesn't get stuck to one side of the shell. If you just have a few eggs you do it by hand (or beak if you're the mama), if you have a bunch - rock & roll, lol chickies.
It would make a splendid composter.
- Peggy Says: February 27, 2010 at 7:41 am
I don't get it. What does this thing do & why would you want to make your own paper in Starbucks?
But Congratulations! It's a cool looking thingamaching!
- Lloyd Says: February 27, 2010 at 9:13 am
It's the next thing that Steve Jobs wants me to buy. Only this one is made out of paper (or, rather, cardstock in this case).
- Lauren's mom Says: February 27, 2010 at 9:23 am
Okay, I'm an idiot... Why don't you just buy some post-it-notes?
What does that thing do?
- Lloyd Says: February 27, 2010 at 9:48 am
Do you mean the thing in the picture or the thing that the thing in the picture is suppose to look like? The thing in the picture doesn't do anything, tho I suppose it might burn nicely.
- Lauren Says: February 27, 2010 at 10:12 am
I like to think of the paper iPad as a teddy-bear for geeks. It gives them comfort to hold it while they wait for the real bear to be released in a month. Wait. That's a terrible analogy.
- Kristi Says: February 27, 2010 at 10:53 am
I still don't get it. What will the new thing DO?
- Lauren Says: February 27, 2010 at 3:21 pm
Think of it as a giant iPhone, minus the phone and camera.
(It's like a tiny laptop.)

Leave a Reply

Name (required)
 Mail (will not be published) (required)
 Website
 Submit
 Notify me of followup comments via e-mail

February 25, 2010 10 Comments

I like the heavyweights.

I have an unhealthy love of card stock. Every morning I get a small piece of card stock, fold it in half, then put it in my back right pocket. It stays with me throughout the day and when I realize I need to do something later, it goes on the list. *Are you writing something [...]

Continue reading...

February 24, 2010 10 Comments

My new anthem.

Sorry for just posting videos, but this one is worth it to me. Things have been a bit crazy lately, and March is going to be a bear. Deep breaths. Deep breaths. This video makes me happy, and the chorus is just what I need. Let it go, this too shall pass'. (You'll [...])

Continue reading...

February 23, 2010 10 Comments

1234

This, ladies and gentleman, is our one thousand two hundred thirty-fourth post! Woo-hoo!!!!

In honor of this numerical wonder, I give you these:
 A sappy love song. (I like the chorus.)
 Feist's fun song.
 Happy 1234 Day! It's the bowling pin arrangement! Do you bowl? (I did - [...])

Continue reading...

February 22, 2010 17 Comments

Well.

Here it is, Monday night, and another post needs writing. It hasn't been the best of days. I won't go into it all and I don't really need cheering up, I'm just not in a good place to try and write something chipper. How about you tell me something you are looking [...]

Continue reading...

February 21, 2010 5 Comments

A medium mystery

First of all, let me apologize for the blurry photos. My camera battery was about to die so I just snapped some quick pictures before putting it on the charger.

Ok, on to the mystery. Lloyd and I have had the same set of pots and pans for our whole marriage. (Thank you, Mark.) [...]

Continue reading...

February 20, 2010 5 Comments

It's only a flesh wound....

So, I talked to Brad on the phone yesterday while making dinner, and I'm pleased to say that I was able to make stoneless Stone Soup using only my phoneless hand. I could totally survive having my arm being vaporized or bitten off by a dragon or gnawed off by rats. (I'm going [...])

Continue reading...

Older Entries